

Hang in there, man

A stylized line drawing of a house. The house is white with a black outline. It has a chimney on the right side. A window on the left side of the house shows two figures in a dark room, one standing and one sitting, with small hearts floating around them. The text 'Hang in there, man' is written in a purple, rounded font. The word 'man' is larger and has a small red heart above the 'a'. A black line starts from the bottom left of the word 'man', goes up, then right, then up again, ending at the top left of the word 'man'.
